House Woodhouse House, more commonly known as The Home House and officially known as the Home & Community Care for the Elderly is a community-based care facility in St John's Wood, west London. It provides community-based support for older people and people with special needs. As of 2016, the Woodhouse House site provides accommodation for over 300 people, as well as a day care centre for children under the age of three. The site has been categorised as a 'Category B' centre by the Care Quality Commission, and has been accredited by the National Lottery Department since 2007. History In 1920, the first hospital in the area was opened. In the same year, the hospital also took on patients who came to the hospital complaining of insomnia. In 1936, The Home and Community Care Act was passed by the British Government which allowed the establishment of alternative care facilities for elderly people and people with disabilities who were previously in workhouses and similar facilities. In 1940, the Royal Institute of Nursing moved to The Home House. In 1965, The University of Westminster's School of Mental Health, School of Nursing and School of Mental Science opened their buildings to The Home
