Taking the action-packed gameplay of Crash Bandicoot right up to a new level, you will have to utilize the environment to maximize damage output, all while avoiding being slowed down. With over 100 handcrafted levels, hundreds of enemies, and insane bosses, you can expect to have some rough moments. When things get tough, slap on that crazy hat, or better yet, a bomb pack, and blow up everything in sight! Cloak the Infultaker is considered a Fluid Game, meaning that there will be no on-screen inventory, but rather a persistent upgrade-based inventory, which will be accessed through items dropped by enemies and objects that can be interacted with. Your arsenal of weapons will consist of six different types of fire, ice, shock, explosion, magic and melee. As for your inventory, it will be split up into three different categories: (1) Regular health, and (2) Max rank of 3 different enhancements, which can be applied at anytime to any of your equipment. Your upgrades will be saved, even if you die. (3) Random assorted rewards (i.e. a Pumpkin Bomb) The game will also feature a score and meter system, that will track your kills and will increase or decrease your score based on your most recent moves.
